

APPLICATION FORM

Xcel: a Pre-university program for STEM

The aims of the Xcel program are to:

- give school leavers the opportunity to rewrite the NSC examination to improve their Mathematics and Physical Science results;
- give school leavers the opportunity to be considered for university programmes with high requirements in Mathematics and Physical Sciences;
- give students the opportunity to improve their skill in programming and CAD that will contribute to better preparation for university studies;
- improve language proficiency in preparation for university studies (subject: ALDE); and
- prepare the students to process high volumes of work at a high speed, as expected at university.

The student undertakes to:

- attend all classes and be punctual (compulsory attendance);
- submit all assignments and write all tests and exams;
- be motivated and participate actively and have a positive contribution towards the programme; and
- take responsibility for their own accommodation, transport, stationery, study material and equipment as needed.

Being unmotivated or non-attendance of classes will lead to exclusion from the programme.

The University undertakes to:

- facilitate Mathematics and Physical Science classes, offered by a SCHOOL;
- recognise the subject ALDE if the student passes the subject;
- expose students to programming and CAD, which will develop students' skills in these areas;
- the University does not guarantee the NSC examination results; and
- terminate students' participation in the programme if they do not attend classes regularly or participate satisfactory.

When submitting the application form, please ensure to also submit the undermentioned supporting documents¹:

- Academic record
- ID-document
- Grade 11 results
- Grade 12 results
- NSC results

¹ These records will be used to determine if the applicant can be accepted into the programme and for research purposes, and will not be used for any other purpose, unless otherwise communicated with the applicant and/or an obligation by law, or to conclude or perform in terms of any contract.
